SHRED SERVICE = VULNERABILITY

Security Level

Most shred services use pierce & tear technology that simply rips into large pieces, creating an increased risk that key confidential information is still readable after destruction.

Handing Off Custody & Control

Does your provider do background checks & insure their employees? Did you know the most shred service technicians are not bonded and insured should a breach occur? Using a outside service provider to handle your confidential materials increases the risk of falling into the wrong hands and your liability. Is it worth taking the risk?

Document Retention

When using a shred service, documents are retained for extended periods of time in locking shred bins. As the bins fill up, documents are easily accessible as shown in this picture.

Actual picture taken inside a healthcare provider. Due to the large throat opening of the shred bin, documents can easily be retrieved and stolen!
